and Their Families

"Expressions of Grief" Art Exhibit

Please join us! FREE

We are hosting our first children's art exhibit Nov. 4th -9th, from 12-7pm daily, at Supporting Kidds. It features works from local high schools, with the theme of coping with grief and loss.

Opening Reception: this Sunday November 4th, from 12-3pm.

Performance: Nov 4th at 3:30pm. This fun, yet serious, performance is appropriate for all ages. Gale Cornelia Flynn will use toys, props, and costumes to fully engage the audience, showing the many faces of grief.

Sponsored by Argus Information & Advisory Services and Epsilon.

Grief Awareness Week, November 2-10

This week, as proclaimed by Governor Markell, is "set aside for grief awareness to enhance solidarity with our human mortality and our common need for mourning and healing." In addition to the Art Exhibit (above), there will be many activities throughout the state. See the Delaware Grief Awareness Consortium website, www.degac.org for the full list of events.

Donations are always welcome

We rely on the generosity of donors like you.

Your "in memory of" donation is a great way to honor a loved one while helping our local grieving children.

$50 purchases supplies for a support group session.

$100 sponsors one hour of family therapy.

$500 buys presents for all of our clients this holiday season.

$1000 enables a family to receive services throughout the year.

You can donate here on our secure web site or mail us a check. And of course, your donation is tax-deductible.

Coping with the Holidays Following Loss

by Dr. Malina Spirito

As Halloween and the fall festivities unfold, we begin to shift our focus to the changing of the seasons and the wave of holidays that are approaching. For many families, this is a time of high excitement, anticipation, and joy. But for those who are grieving, the holiday season can serve as a challenging and painful reminder of family loss. The impending holiday season forces many bereaved families to grapple with multiple tasks of grieving, as they attempt to make sense of the ongoing changes in their family life and to find new ways to cope. Thank you volunteers!

UD's Alpha Phi Omega fraternity painted, sorted supplies, decorated for Halloween, and weeded. Also thanks to Cecelia and Cecelia who helped at Trick or Treat Hockessin.
